ANOTHER VICTIM OF CARBON MONOXIDE

United Church Hold Annual Meeting

The Annual Meeting of the Haliburton United Church was held on Monday evening with some fifty members of the congregation in attendance. In addition to the Pot Luck Supper which preceded the event the congregation was treated to the following delightful program of songs reading and instrumental selections:—

Girls' Quartette, Living of Jesus, Misses Jacqueline Robertson, Janet and Norene Woodcock and Lois Bailey; Piano Duet, Alumni Reunion, Mrs. Melville McKnight and Billy Bliddon; Vocal Duet, Grandfather's Clock and Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes, Mrs. Kaufman and Frank McIntyre; Reading Too Much Lobster, Mr. G. H. Windsor; Piano Solo, Minuet in G, Billy Gliddon.

Shortly after the programme the business part of the evening got under way with Rev. T. W. Rutherford in the chair with Rea Stinson acting as secretary.

The reports of the various organizations were presented and in every case they were most encouraging. The church rolls show a membership of 165 members, 11 members being received into the church during the past year, 5 by profession of faith and 6 by certificate.

The financial report as presented by the Treasurer, Mr. G. H. Windsor was most encouraging showing that $3,454.84 has been raised for all purposes during the past year and that despite quite heavy expenditures a substantial bank balance remained.

The following members of the board were elected to administer the affairs of the church for the coming year:— R. J. Curry, chairman; Rea Stinson, Secretary; G. H. Windsor, Treasurer; W. O. Bailey, Frank Hodgson, C. Tyler, Alvin Walling; Bert Johnston; Earl Casey; W. R. Curry; Melville McKnight; Berkeley Feir.

The Pastor expressed his gratitude to the Elders, the Official Board to the Organist and Choir and the other officers of the various church organizations for the co-operation and loyalty that they had accorded him during the past year.

The minister also thanked the ladies of the congregation for the splendid supper that had been served previous to the meeting. In this connection we are informed that a considerable number of dishes have been left at the church by contributors of food for suppers held in the past. If you ladies are short some of your dishes you might just possibly locate them by visiting the church kitchen.

Jehovah's Witnesses To Open New Hall

On Feb. 3rd at 2 p.m. Jehovah's witnesses along with their many friends will enter their new Kingdom Hall for their first gathering. An interesting programme has been arranged for the afternoon, consisting of a series of talks outlining the purpose, study and work of Jehovah's Witnesses in the district, followed by a Bible Study on the Unity of God's visible Organization. All are invited to attend.

The new hall, situated three miles south of Haliburton on the Minden highway is a credit to its builders and to the Community, having been built entirely by volunteer labor during the past fifteen months. As you enter the door, a cloak room opens on the main hall which is spacious and airy, with ample seating for one hundred and twenty-five people. A raised rostrum occupies the opposite end of the hall, while on the right a lovely view of Katchewanog Lake may be seen through the large picture windows. This hall is one of 644 scattered throughout the country to serve the 20,000 active witnesses who make the preaching of God's word their walk in life, as well as all those who come to study with them, to increase their knowledge of God's word and purpose.

The territory covered by the Haliburton Company extends from Norland to Dorset and east to Esouville and Burnt River. Regular meetings are held on Sunday, Wednesday and Friday at 7:30 p.m. to which all are invited to attend.

Keith Sisson was appointed Rector's Warden for the new year and Ross Fritchard was elected People's Warden. Vertie Fry was elected Lay Delegate to Synod. Earl Cooper and George Jones were elected Parochial Representatives to Great Chapter.

The Financial Report for the past year was read by Mrs. Sid Sisson and showed a favourable balance on hand. Reports were also given by the leaders of the various organizations. Business pertaining to the new year was discussed and voted upon. The Vestry Meeting was preceded by a congregational Pot Luck Supper which was much enjoyed by all present.

Letters to the Editor

January 26, 1952.

The Editor,
The Haliburton County Echo.

Dear Sir:
Thank you for your forthright editorial regarding the report of the medical officer of health of the Municipality of Dysart. A newspaper which fearlessly points up the truth without bias serves our community with the best type of journalism, and can become a vital force in the leadership of public thinking.

Dr. Carol's competent medical skill has served this community well for many years, and it must have come as a great shock to his many loyal patients to discover that he had let down the community as a whole in neglecting to report several unsanitary conditions existing here. While he protected his own children against contaminated milk the other children of the community were not thus protected.

The day after our arrival in May 1950 our eldest child came down with measles. Fresh from another community in another province where health regulations had been strictly enforced, I immediately phoned the office of the Medical Health Officer to report measles. There I was told that measles were not quarantined here, and when I asked if I should report it if my other children got measles I was told that it was not necessary.

Do people know that more children die annually of the complications arising from measles than of the dreaded polio? When my second child came down with measles two weeks later her life hung by a thread, and had it not been for the quick and efficient ministrations of our doctor she might have been another measles casualty. Why are measles not quarantined here?

Haliburton is one of the friendliest and most picturesque parts of our country. Can't we all pull together without prejudice and make it also one of the healthiest places in which to live. It is everyone's responsibility to carry out the laws of public health, which are provided for our own mutual protection.

Mr. Editor, will you keep us informed as to what is being done to correct these matters. What about the milk? Is it still contaminated? What will be done about sewage? What will be done about proper quarantine of infectious diseases? Neglect of these matters not only endangers the lives of the citizens of our own community, but could even have an adverse effect on our tourist trade.

—Marion Henry.

Minden, Ont., Jan. 27, 1952.

To The Editor,
Haliburton County Echo.

Dear Sir:

I wish to compliment you on your Editorial in this past week's paper. I was glad to see that there is someone who isn't afraid of the Dysart or Anson, Hindon and Minden Council. It seems that now days it isn't what you do but who you are that counts and it is encouraging to know that even the biggest fingers in the pie can make mistakes.

Again may I compliment you may we hope to see many more such Editorials in future editions of your paper.

Sincerely Yours,

Measles Epidemic Hits High School

Attendance at the Haliburton High School was hard hit last week by the local epidemic of measles. Students from Haliburton, West Guilford and Wilberforce were equally affected. On Friday last no less than 35 students were away, mainly due to the fever. In Grade Nine, a class of 49 students no less than 16 students were absent whilst in Grade Twelve on Friday morning there was only one girl student present, Dorothy Rinne of Haliburton. She was joined in the afternoon by Jean Sprout. We understand that the students looked anxiously and earnestly for the tell tale spots on the teachers, but so far they have been sorely disappointed and their wild dreams of a holiday due to the closing of school are fast diminishing. School just like show business — must go on.

Your Family Counselor

Is there ever any excuse to elope? One distracted girl thinks so. She has fallen in love. And her mother, who objected to every boy friend she had, is furious.

"We know she'll never let us marry," the girl writes. "Would it be wrong to run away?"

It is proper for parents to be careful whom their daughters date. But some mothers are so unreasonably strict that they practically drive a girl to drastic action.

NO SOCIAL LIFE

I learned that my mother did the girl continues, "Never did I date a boy who pleased my mother. She was not kind even to my girl friends. I've lived much alone, not allowed to go to parties or the movies.

* I ever a girl had reason to take a mistake before she married. But should she torture me for a sin she committed?

"Five months ago, I fell in love with this boy. A month later, he joined the Marines. Twice last summer he came to see me. My mother was furious! Knowing how she has always restricted my social life, he understand why she resents him.

LONESOME & DESPERATE

* If ever a girl had reason to take things into her own hands, this girl has.

* For years she has been under her mother's thumb, treated like a child. Cheated of the natural good times youth deserves, the resentment against her mother has mounted—until now, when love itself is denied, she rebels.

* Her mother's radical discipline is probably the result of her own youthful indiscretion. Determined to protect her daughter from temptation, she has imposed a solitary life that would have made a girl leave home long ago—and with any lad who was kind to her.

* Yet is eloping the answer now? * If these two could start marriage together, with the prospect of continuing that way, who would blame them? But they must be separated until the man has finished his military service.

* Unless she knows his family, and is confident they would welcome her living with them, it is my opinion she had better postpone her marriage and stay with her mother. However unfriendly they are, she would be in familiar surroundings, continuing her studies in the same college. * And she would not be hurting her mother by a defiant elopement.

* Married, living in his home, she might have to face new problems that could try her even more.

* TO "LONESOME AND DESPERATE": I sympathize with you with all my heart. You have been a good and loyal daughter under the most trying circumstances. . . . You will be just as free to marry later as you are now, you know — and your mother's knowledge that you refused to elope should soften her attitude considerably, and give you more social freedom than you've ever had.

There are few circumstances that justify an elopement. Weigh the question, thoughtfully, before you do. . . . Anne Hirst's common sense and wisdom can help you decide. Write her at Box 1, 123 Eighteenth Street, New Toronto, Ont.

Economy

A couple of Hollywood producers were planning a war epic to end all epics. "We gotta make this big—real big," said one. "The way I see it—we'll hafta have regular armies of extras. Why, in one scene—I'm gonna use four thousand men on one side—five thousand on the other."

"Colossal, Charley," says the other specimen. "But ain'tcha forgettin' one thing? Nine thousand men and when the shooting's finished they all gotta be paid off. How about that?"

"A cinch," the first producer told him: "In the last battle scene—we use real bullets."

No Joke . . . A true friend is one who knows you are no good, then forgets it.

Brand Of Old Music—Leaning against the shop of a musical instrument maker in Greenwich Village, Oscar Brand, singer of folk songs, strums lazy melodies from a 17th century Theorbo guitar. The rare contra-bass instrument and the lyric of Brand's tune appears to keep the youngster on the sidewalk entranced.

So quickly the days, the weeks and months go by; so soon the time comes round again when friend greets friend with cheery Christmas wishes. Ah yes, and at Christmas parties and community concerts Old Timers and New Canadians greet each other without reserve. In the Christmas spirit of loving and giving there is no distinction of race or creed; age or social standing. And so from Ginger Farm to all the homes where these Chronicles are read comes my sincere wish that each one of you will have a very happy Christmas season.

To homes where there is no cloud in the sky; where youngsters are carefree and gay, it is my wish that Christmas may add to that same happiness and joy. But in homes where hearts are troubled, where perhaps, for the first time, the family circle is incomplete, I hope the Christmas message will bring new faith and a quiet sense of healing and peace.

Christmas, we know, has a different meaning to different people and, as with many other things in life, it is what we make it. The choice is our own. As Christmas is so will our memories be, of this and of every Christmas.

Yesterday there was a Santa Clause parade in our small town—and don't think it was only the children who enjoyed it! Unfortunately I was unable to get down to see the actual parade but an hour later I felt its influence. It was there in the happy, laughing faces of the children; it was in Mother's voice as she shared young Tommy's enthusiasm. It was carried in Daddy's laugh as he carried the littlest one home on his shoulder and parried the curious questions of Miss Eight-year-old. It was in the stores—behind the counter and in front of it. It was in the policeman's good-humoured Irish grin. It was behind the post office wicket, and at every service it flowed as freely as the gas from the pumps. People jostled each other, I humouredly along the sidewalk or stood talking in little groups. Nobody minded waiting in the crowded stores—This was the children's day . . . and the grown-ups enjoyed it!

As I write the weather is not a bit like Christmas but of course, before this column gets into print the whole countryside may be blanketed in snow three feet deep. One way or another it doesn't really matter, imagination makes up for the weatherman's vagaries. Christmas carols ring out just as cheerily whether we walk in mud or in snow. Neither wind nor storm can silence our Christmas carols nor destroy the message of hope that began long years ago with the Christ-child's birth. Even in Soviet Russia where Christmas celebrations are forbidden one can be reasonably sure that well-loved Christmas carols are still silently sung in the hearts of the oppressed.

Christmas carols have always

Jane Andrews

Veal is the most delicately flavored of all the "red meats" and, because of this, extra care should be taken in its cooking so that none of its savour is lost. Veal should always be cooked at low temperature and, as it is somewhat dry, additional moisture is needed.

Of course certain parts of veal are delicious when roasted. A leg, rump, shoulder or rib cut may be cooked in this manner; but, because veal has so little fat on it, the flavor of the roast will be improved if a strip of salt pork or bacon is laid on top during the cooking. Cook uncovered at 300° F. until tender.

Braising brings out veal's natural delicate flavor perhaps better than any other method of cooking, and stuffed birds, breast, veal, breaded chops, steak with mushrooms, etc., are delicious when braised and baked or simmered.

A veal-stretching dish that can be cooked in a short time and is so unusual that friends will ask you to repeat it when they come again is made with sour cream. A tossed salad with a tart dressing goes well with this dish.

VEAL WITH SOUR CREAM

- 2 pounds veal cutlet
- 3 small onions
- ½ pound mushrooms caps, cut in pieces
- 1 ripe tomato, peeled
- Salt and pepper
- ¾ pint sour cream
- Butter or margarine

Have butcher remove bone and fat and separate cutlets at the membranes. Melt butter in iron pot. Pound meat, season, and brown in pot. Add onions, mushroom caps, and tomato. Cook for a few minutes and add sour cream. Cook about two minutes more. Serve with hot, cooked rice or noodles. Chicken may be substituted for veal.

Almost everyone likes a shortcake, especially if the biscuit or corn muffin used is a delicate golden-brown and crisp. A veal shortcake with peas is quickly made and highly tempting to look at. You can make the biscuits fresh or use those left from last night's dinner.

VEAL SHORTCAKE

- 1 small onion chopped (about ¼ cup)
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 can condensed cream of celery soup
- 1 cup diced, cooked veal
- 1 cup cooked peas, drained
- ¾ cup milk

been a source of comfort and hope—even to the Huron Indians who would gather together to sing hymns to the Christ-child, after first building a chapel of cedar and fir to honour the Infant Jesus.

The first Christmas carol ever sung in Old Canada was probably that written in the Huron Language by Father de Brebeuf. It was written in simple language that it might be easily understood by the Huron Indians. Its beauty lies in its simplicity. Here is the hymn. It is called "Jesus Aha-tonhia" (Jesus is Born).

"Twas in the moon of winter when all the birds had fled That mighty Gitchi Manitou sent angel choirs instead Before their light the stars grew dim And wondering hunters heard the hymn Jesus, your King, is born; Jesus is born: in Excelsis Gloria.

Within a lodge of broken bark the tender Babe was found A ragged robe of rabbit skin his beauty wrapped around And as the hunter braves drew nigh The angel song rang loud and high Jesus, your King, is born; Jesus is born: in Excelsis Gloria.

The earliest moon of winter time is not so round and fair As was the ring of Glory on the helpless Infant there While chiefs from far before him knelt With gifts of fox and beaver pelt Jesus, your King, is born; Jesus is born: in Excelsis Gloria.

O, children of the forest free; O, sons of Manitou The Holy Child of earth and Heaven is born today for you Come kneel before the radiant Boy Who brings you beauty, peace and joy Jesus your King, is born; Jesus is born: in Excelsis Gloria."

- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 6 hot biscuits or corn meal muffins, split and buttered

Brown onion lightly in butter in skillet. Add soup, veal, peas, milk, and Worcestershire sauce; simmer over low heat 10 minutes. Place bottom halves of biscuits on platter, pour part of veal mixture over each, place tops of biscuits on mixture in shortcake fashion and pour remaining veal mixture over. Garnish with sprigs of parsley or strips of pimiento.

If you want to have an oven dinner some evening and use leftover veal, try this unusual casserole that combines cheese with the meat.

VEAL CASSEROLE WITH CHEESE

- 2 cups cubed, cooked veal
- 3 slices bread cut in cubes (you can use corn chips)
- 2 tablespoons pickle relish
- 2 tablespoons flour
- ¾ cup shredded Canadian cheese
- 1 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon catsup
- 1 teaspoon salt

Place bread cubes in oven to toast while preheating oven. Place veal in greased 2-quart casserole and add pickle and flour on top. Spread cheese over this and cover with the toasted bread crumbs or with crushed corn chips. Combine milk, catsup and salt and pour over all. Bake at 350° F. 25-30 minutes.

An farmer received a letter from his own manager during the wet season giving a doleful account of everything. The hay spoiled; meadows under water; the sheep with the foot-rot. It wound up by saying: "It's wet everywhere—nothing but wet—except the cow, and she's dry."

COUNTY SPORTS

Spotlight on Sport BY NEON

The way the Monarchs have been tangling with their opponents and coming through with one goal losses or third period relapses is terrific, however after the game with Parry Sound last night in the Minden Centre the third period relapse could be a thing of the past as last night the Monarchs played the Parry Sound Int. A club goal for goal in the third and were driving in at the bell only to drop another close one by a 6 to 5 score. The game was one of the finest and fastest ever played on Minden ice and told one thing the Monarchs are gradually getting ready for a complete game and mark my words will be a real threat when those play offs begin.

Parry Sound to date have dropped only one game in 12 and that in the early part of the season to Sundridge by a 2 to 1 score after the Monarchs had played them to a 5 to 4 loss to the Monarchs in overtime. The Monarchs have been hitting the top of the league of late, however, with a wind up with Gravenhurst, Sundridge and Powassan who are all dangerous and plenty tough they have still been getting knocked off by a wider margin than the Minden - Parry Sound score by Parry Sound. With one Saturday at home and two away the Monarchs will be at full strength for these three outings and might be the pay off as they are all four point games. The first coming up in Minden this coming Saturday night with the Gravenhurst Indians back for their return game. So it's all out to the game Saturday in Minden for another real fast and no doubt plenty exciting hockey match.

The Monarchs have plenty of hockey between now and the 16th of February with an exhibition game thrown in against the Stouffville Clippers on February 8th at the reopening of the Minden Community Centre when a real hockey game and evening of entertainment is going to be handed the public. The Stouffville Clippers have a rugged hockey club and play in the Senior B, OHA with Collingwood, Midland, Orillia, Newmarket etc. and it will take a lot of power for the Monarchs with the help of a few better hockey players in the area to undo that Club.

Haliburton Huskies really turned on the pressure last Saturday night in dropping the Keswick club by an 11 to 0 score which gives them a good opportunity to get into the first round play offs with Sutton as apparently they two top senior clubs must lead their language. This has really been a rugged season both for the Monarchs and the Huskies and it could be they will both come into their own by play offs. Ken Carnochan is expected back in the line up in a week or so however it appears as the Kimble has blown the coup etc., etc.

In case no one knows or you don't hear the advertisement on the game following Gravenhurst in Minden Saturday, Bucko McDonald, Sundridge Beavers will be in Minden, Wednesday, Feb. 6th. It is not necessary to point out that this will be another outstanding game of the year as everyone knows and remembers last years play offs with this club. They have added strength this year with Hill, Percival and Sedore of the old Bucko fame in the Georgetown era so you can look for another classy hockey game Wednesday, Feb. 6th in the Minden Community Centre. The season grows fast folks and before long hockey will soon be over and you will all be reading about the Toronto Maple Leafs baseball club in spring training so follow the team for their few remaining games.

Henry & Schell Tied For Second

Herb Baker, the Huskies flashy forward is still out in front of the scoring race for the fourth straight lead. He has a seven point lead over his closest rivals Mark Schell and Sugar Jim Henry who are both tied for second place with 11 points each. These totals on the players standings are up to date.

	G	A	Pts
H. Baker	12	6	18
J. Henry	4	7	11
M. Schell	7	4	11
C. Bishop	7	1	8
B. Dart	5	3	8
H. Brohm	3	5	8
D. Iles	6	2	7
H. Robertson	2	2	4

Carnochan Out Of Action

Ken Carnochan the flashy centre ice star of the Minden Monarchs is still sitting on the sidelines hoping to get back in the hockey harness before too long. Carnochan was injured in a game played in Parry Sound a week ago and is at present in bed at home in Haliburton. His leg injury is quite a blow to the Monarchs who need every player in an effort to make the playoffs. The doctor at Parry Sound told Coach Boyd Baukwell that Carnochan would be out for two weeks. But it is feared that he may be out for longer than that. Playing his first season with the Monarchs Ken has been going guns and he is a player that works hard both ways and puts the spark in the club.

Before he was injured he complained that he wasn't feeling too good and it was in the third period that he was hurt. We of the Echo Sports Staff hope that our good friend Ken Carnochan will soon be back out there with the Monarchs.

Huskies Trounce Keswick

Everyone was happy at the Haliburton Arena on Saturday night except the Keswick Hockey Club. The home fans were glad because the Huskies had a win, Blanchard got a shut out and the Community Hall board made money with the large crowd that attended the contest. Yes this was Haliburton night as the onrushing Huskies went out and trounced the Keswick club to the tune of 11 to 0. Blanchard in the Haliburton net must have been singing "I'm A Little On The Lonely Side Tonight," because he didn't have too many visitors at his door step trying to knock that little piece of rubber into the cage. For Al it was his second shutout of the year and he was backed up by one of the best defence lines that the Huskies have lined for time. The Keswick club without a doubt were out of their class with the locals on Saturday night. In this 11 to 0 game many of the Haliburton crew got a chance to up their average in the scoring parade. Out of those 11 goals we think that Bud Dart the veteran of the club scored the smoothest goal of the evening. The puck was shot into the Haliburton end and Dart skated back in for it picking up speed as he came out of Huskies territory. He zig zagged through the entire Keswick team having the goalie at his mercy and sending the rubber into the cage. It was a lovely goal and one that he really deserved. Curry Bishop who picked up two goals and played a terrific game started into the roll of being a fighter and had it out with one of the Keswick players midway in the third period. In our opinion Curry came out on the top. Joe Iles, the hard hitting leftace star of the club who played one of his best games of the season came out with a cut on his chin and had a trip to Dr. Warren after the game with three stitches. This week the Huskies are idle until Saturday night when they meet the league leading Sutton team in a regular scheduled ORHA game at the Haliburton Arena.

Monarchs Unable To Hold Lead

The Bracebridge Bears visited the Monarchs ice palace on Wednesday, Jan. 23rd and after spotting the Monarchs 4 goals in the first 30 minutes of the game went on to win 8 to 5 in a third period drive that saw the Monarchs start out with a one goal lead. There is no doubt conditioning is a big question mark in the collapse of a hockey club in the third period and it is hoped by play off time the Monarchs will come up with that long awaited drive. It was a win going away for the Minden fans until the latter part of the second period and the fans still had hopes entering the third. However if they will bear along I am sure the Monarchs will be giving a good account of themselves by February 18th.

Perc. Nicholls opened the scoring for Minden for his first game in uniform for the Monarchs in the 1951-52 season assisted by J. Lewis, Larry Laughted followed to put Minden two up unassisted. Play was exceptionally fast in this first period and it was a question mark could the Monarchs keep up the pace. However the period ended with Minden 2 to 0 as well as having to stave off two penalties by Bud Kernohan and Perc. Nicholls.

Olmstead caught on fire opening the second frame and sank two quick goals from Legere and Vasey to put the Monarchs four up and what looked like a Dennybrook coming up with the Monarchs still carrying the play. However give the Bears credit the never quit skating and they made a three goal come back before the second period was over with Ball, Robinson and Downey supplying the punch while the Olmstead, Vasey and Legere lines were keeping the big lin of Rowe, Rowe and Nicholls off the score sheet. Chub Downey of the Bears drew the only penalty of the period.

Dixon from Ball put things all even opening the third period and Robinson, Thompson and Nicholls made it 7 to 4 with three quick goals. Ernie and Perc Nicholls teamed up to run the count to 7 to 5 but the damage was done and Robinson from Downey and Reid added another insurance goal to wind up the game 8 to 5 with Deslauriers of the Bears getting the only penalty of the period. Both Perc and Ern Nicholls are back in the harness again and as soon as they get their skating legs under them will add a lot to the future chances of the Maroon and White. They still showed they had plenty on the ball yet and what a little skating will do to those two boys is nobody's business. Claude Brown would have went well with the Nicholls back in harness and when Ken Carnochan gets around again and Kimble discovers all roads lead to Minden, the Monarchs will again be on the Spring Drive.

Paul Brohm Makes Hockey Debut

Minor hockey swung into action on Saturday night again at the Haliburton Community Arena when Herb Baker's Maple Leafs teed off with Ab Larue's Bruins. These regular Saturday night games before the Huskies contests are proving very popular with the Haliburton hockey fans and more and more loyal supporters are coming early to see the kids. After it was all over on Saturday night the Maple Leafs once again came out victorious to the tune of 8 to 1. Fast skating Bruce Sawyer was the only goal getter for the Bruins when he scored on a beautiful pass from Scotty Larue. Bill Johnston with two and Peter Dean with one were the goal getters for the winners.

Paul Brohm, son of the veteran Harry Brohm of the Haliburton Huskies made his debut with the Maple Leafs and the young kid really shows promise. A chip off the old block young Brohm just coming up will be a smoothy just like his father. The best players on the ice for the evening were Scotty Larue who was going strong both ways, Tony Salvatori a high goal scorer, Bill Johnston a future star. This Saturday night the two teams will be out there battling it out once again. Come early and give minor hockey the break it deserves in the village.

In Memoriam

Howe—In loving memory of our darling son Jack, who passed away Feb. 4th, 1945:

Another year passes, still great is our loss.
To lose you, dear son, how heavy the cross.

We'll never forget you dear Jack. For memory holds closely fond pictures of you,
Pictures of scenes with your laugh and your smile,
Making life joyous and living worthwhile.

Our hearts cry out sadly, why so sudden your call,

The sorrow, the anguish, so great to us all;
But only God knows and in His vast love

He'll give us the answer in Heaven above.

—Still longed for and never forgotten by his loving mama and daddy.

Howe—In loving memory of our dear brother Jack, who passed away Feb. 4th, 1945:

Before the throne of God
Thousands of children stand;
Children whose sins are all forgiven.

A holy, happy band.

Up there among the throng
Our little brother stands,
Waiting for us to join him

In that holy, happy land.

—Sadly missed by his loving sisters, Geraldine and Fay.

Trumbull—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Wilbert F. Trumbull who passed away 4 years ago January 30, 1948.

However long our lives may last,
Whatever lands we view,
Whatever joy or grief be ours,

We will always think of you.

—Ever remembered Audrey, June and Kay.

Each one taking a part to bring out some feature of the magazine which was started in 1911 as the National Rotarian and now goes under the eading The Rotarian, an international magazine and it is truly that as it covers Rotary which now exists in almost all parts of the world not behind the Iron Curtain.

While the Rotarian is in a sense the official publication of Rotary of the some 350,000 copies sent out each month some 35,000 go to institutions, schools, libraries and individuals outside the membership and may be subscribed to by any person.

HALIBURTON

Last Thursday's meeting of the Haliburton Rotary took the form of a miscellaneous programme of songs and speeches. After dinner, Messrs. Ron Curry, D. Warren and Carl Hussey entertained the gathering with a few Rotary songs sung in close harmony. According to custom a birthday was celebrated and this week it turned out to be Mr. Bill Holland's anniversary. Mr. Holland gave an appropriate speech and then cut the birthday cake donated for the occasion by caterers Mr and Mrs Clarke. President Harold Black and Mr. Carl Hussey made suitable speeches of good wishes. The last speech of the evening cam from Mr. Lester Walling, who, on the topic of public speaking, emphasized the importance of the art of public speaking and the need for training youth in this matter. He expressed a wish that he hoped that the Rotary Club would encourage such a project and entertain young speakers in the near future. The idea was unanimously accepted and so it is likely that many young speakers will speak at Rotary this season.

Parry Sound 8 Monarchs 3

On Monday, Jan. 21st the Monarchs motored to Parry Sound for their return engagement and went down to a costly 8 to 3 defeat at the hand of the revamped Int. A Club. Ken Carnochan was left in the hospital at Parry Sound under observation with a cut leg that injured the muscles and will be lost to the Monarchs for approximately two weeks. Cec. Olmstead also gathered in a little wood for approximately six stitches from the famed Christie of Bucko Macdonald bruiser fame. It was rough rugged hockey and no doubt could have been taken care of more handsily had the officiating been more on the serious side. However sticks were carried high and allowed to go without warning. Let's hope Dinny Hamilton will clear that stuff up on his refereeing on Parry Sound's return to Minden.

Pud Hammond handled the game in Parry Sound. He seemed quite capable last year however seems to have lost his touch slightly through the golfing season. It seems as though Dinny Hamilton and the gentleman from Parry Sound are the only two officials doing their job properly this season.

Parry Sound went ahead on a 2 to 1 lead at the end of the initial period with Desilets from Ryder and Ryder from Christie with the scoring punch. Lewis from Brown and Legere narrowed the lead to one goal ending the first frame.

It was Parry Sound for two more in the second without a Monarch reply with Christie and Desilets again the Parry Sound pile drivers. Why and how I don't know but Minden drew two penalties to Parry Sound's one in the first two periods with Laughed and Carnochan in the sin bin along with Christie of Parry Sound.

Beginning the final chapter Ryder and Rivington added two more insurance goals for the Sounders to make the score 6 to 1 before the Monarchs came alive with Laughed from Carnochan and Carnochan from Deac. Jackson closing the gap to 6 to 3. However Hosketh and Orr as well as playing strength with two men out of the game.

Wrestler Tried To Cheat Gallows

There are more ways of killing a cat than by choking it with butter. And there are ways of saving a man from hanging other than by a last-minute reprieve.

At least, so thought "Farmer" Burns, who was a circus strongman performer; one-time heavy-weight wrestling champion of the world, and the discoverer of Frank Gotch, who beat the famous Georges Hackenschmidt in the most disputed mat battle of all time.

Martin Burns was a farmer's boy when he first broke into fame. Sent into town to sell some pigs, he was attracted to a visiting fair, chief item of which was a wrestling booth. The proprietor was offering five dollars to anyone who could gain a fall from his pet grappler.

Acclaimed Champion:

Burns went on the mat in the blue overalls that bespoke his calling. He won the match, collected his money and earned from the crowd the name of "Farmer" Burns.

After that he decided it was easier to gain a living on the mat than down on the farm. He took to professional wrestling and in time was acclaimed world's champion by reason of a victory over the original "Strangler" Lewis.

Burns toured the United States, wrestling all comers with great success. In the course of his travels he came across Frank Gotch, taught the tough German all he knew, and eventually developed him into a champion.

The "Farmer" was no physical giant, but used his natural strength scientifically and practised physical culture with fanatic zeal. He made a particular study of muscle-control, and one of his favourite tricks of showmanship was to allow himself to be suspended by the neck for five minutes.

He would have a scaffold built, stand on a box beneath it and have a running noose put around his neck. Then they would kick the box away and leave him dangling in mid-air for the advertised time. When they let him down he would perform a front and back somersault to prove he was quite all right.

This speciality eventually caused Burns to figure prominently in a dramatic story.

In Chicago a certain bar-room habitue named Painter was accused of killing a woman. Although George Siler, a wrestling referee, came forward and testified that the prisoner was in his company at the time when the murder was committed, Painter was found guilty and sentenced to death by hanging.

There were the usual appeals, all of which failed to secure a reprieve. Finally, all hope of saving the doomed man was abandoned.

Siler, who honestly believed in Painter's innocence, chanced to meet Farmer Burns one evening. The wrestler lent a sympathetic ear, discovered that the execution was fixed for three months hence, and asked to be taken to see the prisoner.

This was arranged, and Burns, strengthening exercises such as he used himself when training for his famous "hanging" performance. He had the idea that if they strung the convicted man up three times without being able to break his neck, he would be acquitted without further attempt.

Painter was well acquainted with the renowned hanging stunt. Grasping at the last straw to save his life, he practised daily in his cell the "wrestlers' bridge" and other special exercises for the toughening of the neck muscles.

He became so enthusiastic that before long he was confident that he could not be hanged, no matter how often they tried.

Burns left town before the date of the execution. Returning a month later, he sought out George Siler and asked if Painter had been hanged.

"Oh, yes—but they had to have three tries," explained Siler, wishing to let the Farmer know that his efforts at life-saving had not entirely been wasted. "They broke two ropes on him and finally hanged him with a third."

"Well, then," countered the wrestler philosophically, "it just goes to show that if you try something often enough, you're bound to do it in the end."

LIFE AND HAPPINESS

It is a universal tendency of men and women to marry and establish a home. For we suspect that happiness is made in the home. And we are right. At a deeper level the family is a workshop for the art of making love. But this is not the end. The home is but a preparation for family life with God.

God does not live alone, afar off, in majesty and solemn grandeur. It is common experience among us that one who enjoys power and authority, is left to live alone. This is not true of God. Neither is He alone nor does He wish to remain apart from us. For the life of God is a family life, the life of the Divine Family of the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost.

Never before the coming of Christ did anyone guess the nature of God's life. Throughout the many wise men came to the conclusion that somehow God must have companions. Thus we find the story of triads—companions of God—described in the literature of the East. But these companions of His were always of lesser dignity. There still remained the cold solemnness of God.

We, men and women everywhere, consider loneliness a form of suffering. It is a sign of an incomplete life. But the life of God is perfect, complete. The key to happiness, therefore, lies in studying the Divine Family life of God. The human family must be patterned after the original family if it is to lead to happiness. Its final happiness will be found when it becomes a part of Divine Family life. And thus is the happiness of man completed in the family life of God.

This is one of a series of messages by Father V. McGivney, Parish Priest, St. Francis Parish, Pickering, Ont.

Unfortunately, it too often takes a man with a push longer to get to the front than a man with a pull.

INGOLDSBY

We welcome back to the community Mrs. Reg Burk and family including James Nelson Burk, infant son of Mr and Mrs Reg Burk. Mrs. Burk has been visiting her mother in Toronto during which time son James was born. Reg. is presently stationed at Peterboro Transformer Station and spent the week end at his home here.

On Thursday night, Jan. 24th the Ingoldsby United Church congregation held their annual meeting. Attendance was small but under the chairmanship of the Rev. T. Rutherford, the meeting heard reports from the church treasurer, Mr. Allison Baker, Women's Auxiliary First Vice President for 1951 Mrs. Percy Burk and Sunday School superintendent Wallace Wagg. No changes were made in personnel filling offices in the church organization. Routine business was dealt with and some discussion took place regarding the small winter attendance and our church's financial position, with a view to improving both. Mr. Percy Burk acted as Recording Secretary.

Messrs. Reginald and Lester Hicks spent the week end at their home at "The Narrows". Reg and Lester are employed by the HEPC and are now stationed at London, Ontario.

Mr. Ron Harrison, who is nearing completion of a very successful engineering course at Toronto University, was home for the week end.

You will find Mr. Wallace Crofts behind the wheel of the cream coloured GMC $\frac{1}{2}$ ton pick up which made its appearance on Ingoldsby roads last week. Wally will miss the comfort of the Ford but will find the truck a very useful vehicle.

Miss Mary Burk, employed by the Bell Telephone Company in Toronto, spent the week end with her parents here.

Mrs. Grant Crofts (nee Eileen Clarke) is visiting her family in Toronto this week.

Local Curlers
Going To Sudbury

Four Haliburtons outstanding curlers are away this week at Sudbury where they are competing in a monster bonspiel in that northern city. Haliburtons rink runs as follows: Lear, Ron Curry; Second Mervin Robertson; Vice Skip, Lou Consky; Skip, Carl Hussey.

These curlers will be in Sudbury all this week in hopes of bringing back some of the outstanding prizes offered at this spiel. In talking with Carl Hussey, the skip of the Haliburton rink, he tells us that Haliburton competing in this bonspiel is like the Haliburton Huskies playing the Toronto Maple Leafs. This shows how tough and what good rinks will be in the spiel. But the local foursome are not downhearted and have high hopes of coming out on top. We of the Echo Sports Staff wish them the best of luck.

Monmouth
Centre News

by F. STEVENS

There are several times during the week when the ice in our centre is set aside for public skating so the all may join in the benefits of the Centre. These are usually Tuesday evening, Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Monday night is usually practice night for all the teams here. School teams practice Saturday morning.

This has been a fairly quiet week at the Centre. With no game booked for Wednesday night, most of the crowd came out on Thursday to watch the Town League Teams battle it out. In the opener Tory Hill defeated Gooderham to the tune of 6 to 1. This Tory Hill team is good. In the final Wilberforce were defeated by an inspired team from Harcourt 1 to 3. These Harcourt Terriers are really hot. We understand that the business men of Harcourt are clubbing together to buy sweaters for the team. Hats off to these men who thus get out and encourage their team! Harcourt and Tory Hill are now tied in first place with two wins and no losses each. Gooderham and Wilberforce Rockets have yet to win in the League, which is only two weeks old. Harcourt and Tory Hill meet each other in the next game, so that should be a hot one.

On Friday night the Monmouth All Stars journeyed to Grafton, near Cobourg, to play a return game there. Although short of men the local lads came through with a 6 to 4 win in Grafton. This is the first game that the All Stars have won this year and it is to be hoped that they keep it up, for the public do not like to see a team lose all the time. Someone said that the Cobourg team was not as good as when they played here, but that sounds like an alibi.

On Saturday night the local lads from Tory Hill and Wilberforce who usually play in the town league, banded together to entertain a team from Cambray, also composed of younger players. The Cambray players had a good time but lost the game to the tune of 12 to 5. This should be encouraging to the locals, and it should show the public that there are many young hopefuls coming along under the able coaching of Murray Agnew.

Anyone wanting to arrange games with any teams in this Centre should contact Mr. Jack Taylor, the able chairman of the Centre.

What happened to the plans to start a Curling Club in the Centre? Anyone know of any old stones or curlers lying around idle?

With a beautiful Centre like this operate from why doesn't the new Reeve promote a Monmouth Fall Fair?

Back again with more news next week.

A Very Deplorable
Old Christmas Tree

There are many fine radio programmes about,

But the one I now mention were giving things out, And among other things they were giving out free

Was a very deplorable old Christmas tree.

Just a short time ago this same little tree,

In its natural surroundings was beauty to see

Through many a season the little tree stood

On the slope of a hill at the edge of a wood,

And with never a thought of the little trees plight,

We mortals cut down this small thing of delight.

It was carried away from the snow covered mound,

Just some chips and a stump were left on the ground.

To a quaint little cottage the little tree went,

And its fragrant aroma of forest was sent.

Did it long to be back in the far North country,

Like a bird in a cage, did it long to be free?

And then in the morning such whoops of delight

Sweet babes who had slept through the long winter night

Was the spirit of Christmas contained in that tree.

In a few days the holiday season was ended

The festive occasions had all been attended

But our dear little tree once with tinsel so bright

Now stood in the yard, a deplorable sight.

If only we'd open our hearts to the light,

Place God's gift of the manger in our homes Christmas night

And, worship the King as did the men three,

There would be no more need of a little green tree.

Where Oh Where Could The Little Win Be

Bracebridge Saturday night and let's bring out the umbrellas. It's raining pucks or something.

Bring out the win column or is there one of those things left. Down the ladder to Huntsville, Parry Sound, two to Bracebridge and the Monarchs are still in fourth spot which is one lovely salvation for it could be with the chances they had in Bracebridge and were out, guessed on such a small margin that even with the 9 to 2 loss the Monarchs are going to start climbing. I mean it folks they have the material and they are working plenty hard and they had just as much of the play as Bracebridge so that little obstacle will be solved we bet you I mean and soon.

That Bracebridge Palace seems to be a joner to the Monarchs or maybe it was because that $1,000, 000.00 on the hoof of the old timers Professionals that were out there the night before put a damper on it. Anyway the Monarchs have been hitting the top of the standing order lately and maybe they can come up this coming week with the right slant that will give them that point insurance needed.

Bracebridge opened the scoring by Brazier from Ball and followed through with two more by Rowe from Vancielief and Robinson. Reid from Downey to take a 3 to 0 edge before Perc Nicholls wound for one cosing the first session, with Downey getting called for tripping.

Olmstead set up Ernie Nicholls who in turn relayed to Legere to make the score read 3 to 2 opening the second stanza with Reid from Brazier following for a 1 to 1 period ending the second score 4 to 2. J. Lewis was called for interference for the only penalty.

Things roughened up a bit in the third with Glen Vasey drawing blood from being chopped across the mouth and nose and a few flaccid mixed up for a rather hectic period as it seems when the rough stuff starts the Monarchs slip as Thompson, Rowe, Downey and Nicholls all came through with four unanswered goals with Nicholls getting his second of the period from Rowe and Rowe. They kept that big line off the score sheet until the third and when they got telling it was strictly Rowe. Rowe you boat, however R. Windover softened up R. Rowe a bit near the end of the frame, however took a 2 minute boarding penalty for his effort. Could be a few more softening up on that line if one could ever catch up with them might be the answer. Final score, Bracebridge 9, Minden 2.

1st Period—

Bracebridge, Brazier, Ball, Bracebridge, R. Rowe, Vancielief, Bracebridge, Robinson, Reid, Downey.

Minden, Perc. Nicholls, Penalty, Bracebridge, Downey, tripping.

2nd Period—

Minden, Legere, E. Nicholls, Olmstead, Bracebridge, Reid, Brazier, Penalty, J. Lewis, Minden, interference.

3rd Period—

Bracebridge, Thompson, Bracebridge, R. Rowe, Nicholls, Rowe.

Bracebridge, Nicholls, Rowe, Rowe, Bracebridge, Reid, Downey.

Bracebridge, Nicholls, Rowe, Rowe, Penalties: Bracebridge, Nicholls, Wasson and Vancielief; Minden Legere, R. Windover, Richardson.

EDITORIAL Business IS Terrible

When the question "how is business" is asked of the proprietors of business establishments throughout the County, you can bet that 90 per cent of the answers will be "terrible", — there just isn't any business. They have a multitude of answers, and all of them in the same vein. The usual ones are — there's no work and people haven't any money, or the people buy from the mail order houses, or people drive to the big towns where there are chain stores. Yes, they have a standard set of excuses.

When they are approached to advertise their wares in the local paper their excuse is generally expressed as follows — What's the use of advertising, people aren't spending so I would be only flinging money away.

The truth is that the business man of Haliburton County has neither the faith or the fortitude of our ancestors who pioneered this great County of ours. Had our ancestors who settled here in the 1860's and '70's felt as do our present day generation, this County would still be a wilderness. They would have packed their goods and chattels and moved out. Greater opportunities by far exist today. In the old days there was no tourist industry and about one quarter the population and most of the business was carried on by trade, butter, eggs, meat, grain or wood taken by the merchants for his wares. Yet those dour merchants stuck and made money.

We admit that business could be better, but what is the business man doing about it? Absolutely nothing. He is waiting, like the frog in the fable, for a fly to pop into his mouth.

We have a cure for this business inertia. Our resident population is about nine thousand and our summer population is in the neighbourhood of sixty to seventy thousand. Everyone is agreed that what we require is a larger resident population. This can be achieved by attracting industries to our County. As we stated in a former editorial, we have much to offer business enterprises, low taxes, good roads, healthy environment, lower overhead and many other attractions. If the business men want more business why do they not form a County Chamber of Commerce or some such organization, and appoint a committee to go to the cities and sell the idea. But that my friends would cost a little money so the business man will probably go on as before, bemoaning his fate in being tied up in a business that there's no money or future in.

Many of our stores could be made much more attractive at little cost during the winter months when business drops off somewhat. Lines of merchandise which have not enjoyed a big sale could be advertised and moved off the shelves to make room for articles in demand. Business premises could be renovated and made more modern. One reason that people like to "shop out" occasionally is that they like to see and deal in an attractive, clean and up to date store. If the people have that type of shopping district and if the merchant sells his wares at a fair price, he will find a very definite upturn in his business. But some of our retailers seem to lose their initiative and like the bear, den up for the winter and bemoan to all and sundry that they do not know how they can last till summer rolls around again.

But just go to one of this ilk and ask him how much he will take for his business. The price that he will probably ask will floor you. Ah yes! Business is terrible.

WEEKLY ROUND UP

by Creighton Feir

Now is the time for all you skaters to sea Wednesday, February 6th on your must list for winter sports. On this night the Dysart Recreation Committee are staging the first ice carnival of the season. This carnival will have everything for the skating public and some real nice prizes are on the menu for the lucky winners. The highlight of the evening will be a broom ball game by two local teams that haven't been announced up to this time. This your opportunity to get out and have a real night's entertainment and also you will be helping the Recreation Committee. See you there.

Latest reports tell us that the Haliburton Branch of the Canadian Legion will soon be back at work getting their legion hall back in repair. The fire that gutted the two story building was quite a loss to the vets but they aren't taking it sitting down. They are out now to start work on the building. The Haliburton Rotary Club are still holding their meetings in the hall on the first floor.

Mrs. Arvo Rinne of Haliburton is the new manager of the Frontier Grill on Highland street in the village. Mrs. Rinne is noted for her fine cooking and she says that she has a wide variety of food on her menu. We wish Mrs. Rinne the best of luck in her new business venture.

This Saturday night, Feb. 2nd, the Gravenhurst hockey club will be the visitors on Minden ice. They will meet the Monarchs in a regular scheduled O.H.A. contest.

We are glad to see Stan Sawyer of the village back on his feet again. Stan has been in the Haliburton Red Cross hospital the past few weeks with an injury he received while working in the woods.

An epidemic of measles hit the Haliburton High School last week when eighteen students had to leave the classrooms and go home. It was rumoured at the time that the school would be closed until the epidemic was over but the teachers carried on with the students that were left. Most of the pupils are now back hard at their studies once again.

I would like to announce to all our readers, correspondents and those who send in news that our deadline for news is Monday night at 6 o'clock and Tuesday night at the latest. By getting your news in by Monday night it gives us a break in getting the paper out on time. We must be out by Thursday night and the only way we can do this is with your co-operation. Get your news in to us by Monday night. Let's not forget that the Haliburton County Echo is Haliburton County's "Own And Only Newspaper". Keep sending in the news folks, we really appreciate it.

We have been asked to announce that anyone carrying liquor or beer on them at the hockey games in Minden or Haliburton will be fined. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

The last figures handed into us on the Minden Recreation Centre rebuilding fund show that the total up to that time is $2652.05. This total is very good but more money is still needed if the ice arena is to be paid for. If you haven't sent in your donation do so today. Just send your money in care of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Minden.

Advertising the coming events in Haliburton by a P.A. system seems to be the thing to do these days. Cliff Kellett does a marvelous job on the mike and after hearing him you will say that he should be on the radio. Of late hockey games, prayer meetings and sales have been echoing over this system. It's a grand P.A. System and can be heard clearly miles away.

There have been several complaints hitting our office this week about roads in the County. These motorists claim that the snow ploughs are waiting to long after a storm before they hit the road. The Haliburton Huskies hockey club had a hard time to get home last Tuesday night on the highway that hadn't been ploughed.

We are hoping to have printed on our sport's page every week from now on a run down of the curling games and results as they happen. Haliburton has a large membership in the club and these results will be of interest to all.

That's about it for this week folks but I will be back to greet you next Thursday on the pages of the Haliburton County Echo.

Herb Baker New Recreation Director

Herb Baker, the left wing star of the Haliburton Huskies, was appointed as the new recreation director for the Dysart area on Friday night last in a meeting held in the library at the Haliburton Community Hall. Chairman Albert Larue was in the chair and the following members were present. Mrs. Alice Robertson, Mrs. Gladys Kingston, Mrs. Maxine Curry, Creighton Feir, Glenn Austin, Jack Austin and Roy Brohm.

Herb Baker, the new director, is now on the job and the Dysart Recreation programme is once again in full swing.

One of the main topics of business at this meeting was the skating carnival which is to be held on Wednesday, Feb. 6th at the Haliburton Community Arena. This carnival is being sponsored by the Dysart Recreation Committee. This is the first Carnival staged by the Committee and we all hope that it will be a success, it can be a success if we all pitch in and it seems that some of the citizens in the Dysart area and not living in Haliburton feel that their children are not receiving the benefit of the Recreation programme. It is the parents who are at fault, if they are not interested enough to bring their children out, well then nothing can be done about it. The director cannot help those who will not help themselves.

The Minor hockey set up was discussed at this meeting and managers and coaches were talked over for all the teams from squirt up to the top.

Herb Baker takes over the Recreation position and is on full time. His experience he had with Red Mitchell, director at Lindsay, will help him a great deal.

The meeting of the W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. George Jones last week.

Although some of the students were sick with the measles, last week everyone is back to school again.

From all accounts the local fellows are doing their best to organize a hockey team. When the games start don't forget to support your team.

Six Small Dots Give "Sight" To Blind

In recent years a great deal has been done to help blind people become self-supporting and useful members of the community.

Yet, incredible as it may seem, the blind were not always accorded such treatment. In ancient Rome blind boys were considered a total loss to the community and were sold into slavery as galley rowers; blind girls were sold into prostitution. Even 200 years ago many Europeans either shunned the blind or ill-treated them.

The first to alleviate their condition was Valentin Haüy, an eighteenth century Frenchman. When he was twenty-six he was horrified to find that the blind were exploited to provide crude amusement for their fellow citizens; groups of sightless beggars were made to wear pointed hats and huge cardboard spectacles, were given sheets of music and ordered to sing for the amusement of passers-by.

Haüy was repelled by this pitiful burlesque, and in 1784 established the first school for the blind, where the alphabet was taught by means of embossed wooden letters. Later, in 1817, a blind Englishman named Moon developed a system of embossed shorthand which is still used, but to a rapidly decreasing extent.

It was left to Louis Braille, another Frenchman, to give the blind sight in their finger tips. When aged three, he was imitating his father, a saddler, by cutting leather. The sharp knife slipped and sliced one of his eyes. The other eye was affected, and he soon became totally blind. His father had him educated and he grew into an accomplished musician. He learned to read by means of embossed lettering but felt that the system was much too unwieldy.

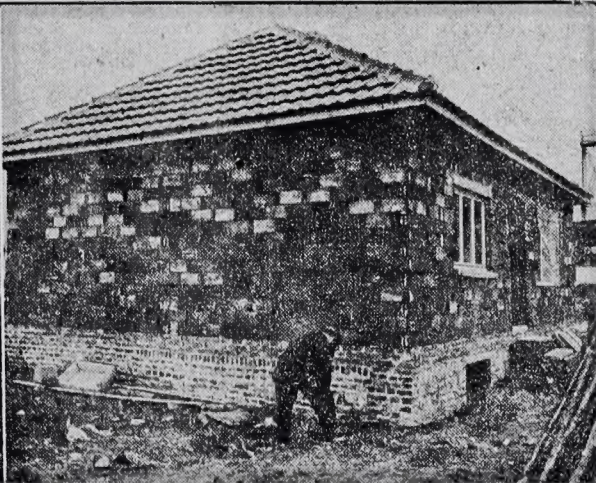

For years Braille struggled to develop a better system and ultimately hit upon the six little raised dots which are transposed to make letters, syllables, and contracted words similar to those used in shorthand. Today the blind can read easily in Braille and write rapidly with pointed instruments on special boards.

There is a contracted form known as Braille No. 2. Using this, a blind reader can finish a book or printed article in normal time. Braille has brought happiness to thousands, and though blindness is a dreadful handicap, there are numerous jobs in which the blind can more than hold their own.

Even before Braille, a few blind people attained positions of eminence through their own efforts;

Home From The War—A German architect, turned homebuilder, is shown, left, putting the finishing touches to one wall of the cottage he is constructing in Frankfurt, Germany. Needing a place to live and lacking funds for conventional materials, the builder used wooden ammunition boxes that had been stacked in a former German army depot. To give the boxes the necessary strength to support the roof the compartments designed to hold shells were filled with cement. At right is a view of the outside of the building as the architect caulks basement bricks.

Nicholas Saunderson was Professor of Mathematics at Cambridge and John Metcalf became a famous engineer. But most blind people lived in an abyss of black despair. Braille is one invention of which it can be truly said it has no evil repercussions.

Forgetful Brutes

You wouldn't think an octopus was very clever, would you? But Professor J. Z. Young, who recently returned to Britain from Naples, where he has been studying octopuses, found they are quite brainy, although their memories are not as good as they might be.

He discovered that the octopus, whose brain is about the size of a man's little finger-nail, is able to differentiate between the letters I and L. It can also distinguish between squares of varying sizes.

When Professor Young lowered these signs into the tank of an octopus selected at random, the creature quickly learned to associate one letter with food and another with an electric shock. But there was a snag. Two days afterwards the octopus had forgotten all it had learned and the scientist had to start training it all over again.

Professor Young confesses that so far scientists do not understand how the octopus learned to distinguish between the signs. He estimates it will take them years to find out.

still be to blame for mastitis. What is worse, the disease may be spread through the bad milk from cow to cow.

Some authorities still deny that this can happen, and refuse to classify mastitis as a contagious disease. However, an English experiment proved that at least some kinds of mastitis can be spread through milk, and that a single cow may be able to infect an entire herd. More recently it has been reported that Bang's germs applied to the ends of cows' teats may cause severe cases of mastitis. At best it doesn't seem that mastitis spread merits much gambling with possible causes.

With this being true, unexplained mastitis trouble may be reason enough for having a blood test run on the whole herd. If no Bang's reactors are found, the testing at least will do no harm. If infection is discovered, the owner may be surprised at the number of reactors that have also been giving bad milk at irregular intervals. Anyway, such a test is often the logical way of starting a battle against mastitis.

It's certain that all the high-priced remedies on the market aren't going to cure Bang's disease or the mastitis it causes. Maybe you'll have to sell your "Banger" cows before you can get rid of your mastitis troubles. We say "maybe," because we don't know that Bang's disease is causing mastitis in your herd. However, you probably won't know either, unless you test, so you might be doing a little thinking about the matter.

HAD ENOUGH

Granny had volunteered to look after her four-year-old grandson while his parents went to the pictures. Tucking him in bed, she whispered: "Are you ready for your bed-time story?"

"Not tonight, please, Granny," he murmured.

"Then, shall I sing you a lullaby?" asked the indulgent grandparent.

"No thanks," said the four-year-old. "No lullaby."

Granny was perplexed.

"Then what can I do for you my child?" she asked.

"Well," proposed the child, "suppose you take a walk and let me get some sleep."

Disaster Brings Unity to Italy - -

By Julius Humi

Rovigo, Italy—(NEA)—National disaster brought unity to politically turbulent Italy—but the unity didn't last as long as the disaster.

For a short and busy week, all the country's political parties forgot their differences. For the first time in the postwar period, Communists, Fascists, Christian Democrats and Liberals got together for a common cause: the relief of 200,000 Italians caught in the Po River flood, which caused havoc on a scale unknown since World War II.

The disaster, which struck with sudden ferocity, left even the most ardent of politicians speechless at first.

From Italy's bigger cities, 10 million dollars in cash and tons of clothing were contributed in a week. The U.S. promised another million, and Britain, France, Norway and Austria sent technical aid and medical supplies.

More than 3000 firemen from all parts of the country—the equivalent of an entire Italian army division—collaborated with British and American troops from Trieste, rowing, pulling and carrying 100,000 flood refugees to safety. Italian, British and American planes dropped food and medical supplies; U.S. helicopters spotted farmers and livestock trapped by the raging waters.

In the first burst of enthusiasm, even the Communist press praised the work done by Allied troops.

But, as one Italian newspaper said, "it was too good to be true." As the situation improved, political fervor got the upper hand again.

At first, the Christian Democrats, who run most of the relief work, prohibited some of the motor boats run by local Communist sectors from continuing salvage work.

The Communists retaliated with a vicious propaganda campaign, charging foul play by some government agencies in distributing aid. Shortly after that, police arrested some 30 local officials who, they charged, had diverted relief supplies and then redistributed them as coming from Communist sources.

American and British officers lost patience when politics began to interfere. A British captain, for instance, who was running one of the two large assault boats bringing in refugees from Adria, had his official guides withdrawn for "political reasons." He had to lay up his boat for a whole day while authorities quarreled as to which party should furnish the guides.

Final blow to the short-lived national unity came when Communists demanded in parliament that the 620 billion lire appropriation for rearmament be diverted to flood relief. With typical Communist forethought, they had picked a way to fight rearmament which would appeal to the man in the street.

Despite these squabbles, the disaster relief has been a success, even if the unity it brought about was not. More than half the estimated 40,000 cattle in the area were brought to safety on improvised rafts.

In the immense movement of people, with whole towns and villages evacuated sometimes within a few hours, less than 100 lost their lives—half of them when a truck carrying evacuees slipped off the road.

But the damage to the Po Valley, Italy's agricultural heartland, will be a grave problem to the government for years to come. Now the valley's rich farmlands are a muddy delta of ruin and destruction, and it will be at least a year before they can be worked again.

Meantime, it will be an added burden, not only for Italy's struggling economy, but for the whole European community working toward reconstruction.

It Ran On A Political Reef—British assault boat, skippered by English captain (standing, rear) ferries a load of homeless Italians from flood-ravaged Adria. But the boat had to halt its mercy missions for a day while local Italian politicians argued as to which party should furnish guides for the skipper.

THE FARM FRONT

A dairyman was having considerable trouble with mastitis in his herd, says a well-known veterinarian. He grumbled about it considerably, for there was no apparent reason for such disturbances.

The dairyman kept his cows clean and followed a recommended "fast milking" program with all the trimmings. He fed intelligently and milked at regular intervals. The rows didn't have to wade through mud in the summer or manure in the winter.

There were no high door-sills or slippery floors or deep gutters or other booby-traps around his barn. The cows were well bedded to prevent chilling of udders on the concrete floor. The stalls were plenty wide, and partitioned besides to keep adjoining cows from trampling each other. They were long enough so that udders didn't hang over sharp gutter edges when cows lay down.

The milking machine was kept adjusted to the proper vacuum and recommended pulsator speed. Inflation was changed often and so made capable of doing a good milking job. Everything seemed to be in order, all right, but the cows continued to give a lot of bad milk, just the same. The cause? Believe it or not it was Bang's disease.

This disease is usually thought of in connection with abortions and breeding troubles, but it can be associated with mastitis too. This is no recent discovery, as years ago Grandpa suspected that "slinker" calves and "garget" milk were caused by the same thing.

We're a little wiser nowadays, for we know that all "Banger" cows don't have mastitis any more than all cows giving bad milk have Bang's disease. However, any time that mastitis is appearing without apparent cause, it's a good idea to consider Bang's disease as a possible factor.

This is logical enough, for Bang's germs are often found in the udders of reactor cows. In addition, they're frequently found in the milks produced by such cows. Well, in the udder they may cause enough infection to result in symptoms of mastitis. If they don't cause actual udder damage, they may serve to lower natural resistance against other types of germs. Some of these are ordinarily harmless, but become increasingly "hot" as resistance decreases. Regardless of whether they're directly or indirectly concerned, Bang's germs can

by NORM ROWLINSON

Now that the street car strike is over, people are all talking about the weather again in the normal way. And about every third time you say it's cold, somebody says how cold it used to be some place up north.

"It used to be pretty cold up around Newmarket," one old timer told me, "but you don't feel it the same as you do down here."

"That's what they say," I replied. "It's colder, but you don't feel it."

Another old timer I gave a ride to last week said he used to work up at White River.

"That's the coldest spot in Ontario, isn't it?" I asked.

"Yes, it was down to 60 below quite often," he said. "But up there you don't feel the cold the way you do down here."

"That's what everybody used to say up in Haliburton last winter," I said.

"No, you don't feel it the same," he said.

He was right, too — as far as I was concerned anyway. I remember gleefully watching everyone shivering at those 20 below hockey games, while I was comfortably packed into three overcoats.

Down here, I shiver.

Although the temperature drops sometimes in Haliburton, the people are always warm hearted. Bob Hart, who is now employed here as an insurance adjuster with A. E. Wilson and Company, misses the friendliness of Haliburton and likes to get "home" as many week ends as he can.

"Every Saturday night, you begin to wonder what everybody in Haliburton is doing," Bob told me when I called on him at his office one noon hour. "There's always something on in Haliburton — a hockey game or a dance," he said.

Down here, Bob goes to dances occasionally at Upepr Canada College and de Lasalle College, which he used to attend, and splashes once in a while at Casa Loma or skating at the Jolly Miller in Hogg's Hollow. He also hopes to assist a friend in stock car racing this spring. He uses his car for the odd trip to Barrie, Buffalo, skiing at Collingwood, or Huskies games, wherever they are. He is also continuing his car pool although the strike is now over.

But Bob uses the car most going "home" to Haliburton.

Alla Rinne, employed at Confederation Life, feels about the same Toronto's fine but if you can get a ride back to Haliburton, grab it. Some week ends, Alla visits May Macdonald of the village, who is staying at Ajax and attending Oshawa Business College.

Clive St. Laurant, who played with Red Greer and Al Perrin last summer, is now playing with a band over FM station CJRT every Wednesday. He plays on different engagements during the week.

Joyce Austin was a visitor to Niagara Falls a couple of Sundays back. She also reports running into Joyce Watson of Buttermilk Falls, who is now an instructress at Orthur Murray Dancing Studios.

Tommy Hodgson is at present attending High School at Islington.

Barbara Watson of Tory Hill is attending the Ryerson Institute of Technology here, where she is studying Fashions.

Sorry! Joan Nicol's skating party was last Friday, not the week before. Joan says a good time was had by all.

The "Loafing" or "Pen" type dairy barn is just one of the many recent improvements in farm buildings. You will be looking into new types of buildings, and new ways to arrange present buildings before you go beyond the planning stage of construction or repairs. Modern farm buildings are designed to save labour, protect herd health and lead to greater profits.
